

Talk and book signing:
Author and Broadcaster Alan Dein on Candy, Andy and the Bearandas
in Flamstead

St Leonard's Church, Flamstead
Saturday 2 March, 2pm—3pm

Historian and broadcaster Alan Dein will give an illustrated talk about Candy, Andy and the Bearandas - the little known, and bizarre comic-book creation from the Gerry Anderson stable, famous for their hit television shows Thunderbirds and Captain Scarlet.

Candy, Andy and their panda bear parents lived in the quintessential English village, and that village was Flamstead: the photography depicts locations around the village and local residents of that time.

Come along for a fun and informative talk about the strange world of Candy and Andy, set in and around Flamstead in the late 1960s. The talk will be followed by Q&A with the audience and a spot the village location competition to win a copy of Alan's new book Candy, Andy and the Bearandas.

Admission free - no booking required

email hello@fourcornersbooks.co.uk for more information